Senators Lose G. O. P. Control

Choice of Butler To Succeed Adams President Coolidge Shows He Is Now Supreme In Party.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, May 2.—President Coolidge has laid a firm and heavy hand on the Republican party organization.

Now that his nomination at Cleveland six weeks hence has been placed in the category of certainties, he has taken over absolute control of the G. O. P. machine and henceforth his will will be the guiding hand on the party wheel, and his will will be the force on the accelerator.

The president's assumption of control has been so gradual and so quiet that the Republican senatorial caucus that "ran" the Chicago convention four years ago have had but little voice in shaping the plans for the Cleveland convocation.

At the convention away from Chicago, where it was destined to go, Mr. Coolidge sent it to Cleveland. He followed this up by naming Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio as temporary chairman and key-note speaker, and he topped it off today by accepting the resignation of John T. Adams as chairman of the national committee and designating William H. Butler of Massachusetts as Adams' successor.

Butler announced himself some time ago as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination from Massachusetts this year. David I. Walsh, the Democratic incumbent, is expected to be re-elected.

It is expected now that Butler will withdraw from this contest, leaving himself entirely to the task of getting Mr. Coolidge and if that is accomplished next November, graduate into the new Coolidge cabinet.

Meanwhile the understanding that Louis A. Coolidge, treasurer of the United States Machinery Company, will be Walsh's Republican opponent for the senate in November.

Three more decisions of paramount importance remain to be made with regard to the Cleveland convention—the selection of a permanent chairman, the designation of the man who will make the nomination speech for Mr. Coolidge and lastly and most important, the selection of a running mate.

In view of the thorough going manner in which Mr. Coolidge has taken over the organization, there is little doubt today but that he will make these decisions as he has made the others.

The president is understood to be desirous of having Senator Borah, of Idaho, make either the nominating speech or sound the party call as permanent chairman. As for the vice-presidential pick, Mr. Coolidge is said to have expressed no preference other than that the nominee be from the west and that he be "regular."

Everything that the term implies. The passing of John T. Adams as national chairman, which will take place at Cleveland, has long been anticipated. Adams has been closely identified with that group of Republican senators who have not always been eye-to-eye with the White House. He has consistently opposed the world court, endorsed by both Harding and Hughes, and has courageously said so in the face of White House disapproval.

He likewise differed with the president over the dismissals of Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy and Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general.

A thorough reorganization of the national committee will follow the national convention. George B. Lockwood, secretary, whose editorial of the National Republican, has brought him frequently into the spotlight recently also will retire.

Had a Bonfire; Firemen Called

Edward McKinnon, a negro residing at No. 52 Delaware avenue, was doing his spring cleaning in the yard at his home and had started a bonfire to burn up the rubbish. The fire got beyond his control and an alarm of fire was turned in from Box 15 early Thursday evening to which the fire department responded.

This morning Fire Chief Chipp had McKinnon summoned to appear in police court to explain why he had started a bonfire without first obtaining a permit from the fire department.

Judge Robert G. Groves, who presided, informed Mr. McKinnon that the rules of the fire department required a permit before any one could start a bonfire on their premises, and instructed him to obtain such a permit if desired.

As this was the first case brought to the court's attention no warrant was issued, and Mr. McKinnon was not arrested. It is expected, however, that in the future warrants will be issued for the arrest of any one caught starting a bonfire without having a permit from the fire department. These permits are issued free by the fire chief.

Major Martin Still Missing

Boats Making Thorough Search and Soon Other Planes of Fleet Will Scan Back Trail.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cordova, Alaska, May 2.—Major Frederick L. Martin, with his flag plane Seattle of the United States Army round the world flight was still missing today.

Despite the fact that the coast guard cutters Algonquin, Pioneer and Haida and all available cannery boats have been searching for 24 hours they have found no trace of the missing aviator.

The Algonquin is sending small boats along the shore and in small bays that larger vessels cannot enter in order that no nook along the Alaskan peninsula from Chitina to Shumagin Islands may remain unexplored.

L. Bissell, advance officer of the flight, is directing the search from aboard the Haida which has been stationed at Dutch Harbor. The Haida carries all of the spare parts needed for outfitting the big Douglas planes being used in the flight and will be able to furnish needed repairs if the Seattle is found disabled.

The weather remains unchanged. Cold winds are blowing, carrying snow from the mountain tops.

The search for the missing aviator will be continued with every available resource and if no trace is found by the vessels, now patrolling the coast line, Major Martin's companion flyers at Dutch Harbor will fly over the route he was to follow in an effort to find him.

Major Martin took off from Chitina at 11:20 a. m., Wednesday. The Seattle carried little or no food supplies and fears were expressed here that Major Martin and his mechanic, Sergeant Harvey may be suffering from hunger if they were forced to land in some isolated cove.

Weather reports from various western Alaskan stations are being carefully scanned by the searchers.

Hotel Stock Selling Campaign Week of May 13

Nearly 200 Well Known Local Men Being Trained in Art of Stock Salesmanship—The Group Leaders.

Thursday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms the group managers for the stock selling campaign for Kingston's new hotel held an enthusiastic meeting for the purpose of selecting their salesmen.

This organization for selling stock for the new hotel will be made up of four divisions of four groups each and each group will have ten salesmen. This will make a citizens' sales force of one hundred and sixty men, in addition to the executive committee of twenty-seven men.

During the week of May 13th it is planned that these salesmen will give every citizen of Kingston an opportunity to buy stock in the new hotel. These salesmen will work entirely from assignment cards which have been made for those citizens who are considered able to buy stock. No solicitation of anyone will be made by any salesman unless he first gets the assignment card from the campaign office. The object of this plan is to save the time of the salesman, as well as the citizens who are going to buy stock.

Sales Division. The sixteen groups are organized into sales divisions as follows: Division A, under the leadership of Edward Derronbacher; group managers: M. Beberfeld, Dwight McEntee, James Sneed and R. L. Thompson.

Division B, under Dr. Aden C. Gates; group managers: William Byrne, Arthur Connelly, Peter Daubler and Floyd Powell.

Division C, with George E. Lowe as sales chief; group managers: Chester Bantz, J. L. Gifford, Ernest Hicks and Charles Lasher.

Division D, under Sales Manager Roy M. Smith; group managers: Lewis Brown, J. W. Dessert, George J. Seligson and R. E. Leighton.

These group managers during the coming ten days will select the men with whom they desire to work and when completed an effective organization of practically 200 salesmen will be available to turn loose on the stock sales project.

The men, of course, will not be expected to go into the program until after they have undergone a course in stock salesmanship.

It was pointed out at this meeting that the hotel will be the best advertisement that Kingston can have; it will mean the beginning of a new era in the life of the city; nothing that a progressive city can do, no industry that could be brought to a city could do so much to give the city the reputation of being up-to-date.

Hoover to Call Radio Conference

Will Seek By Mutual Agreement To Eliminate Abuses That Present Laws Cannot Reach.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, May 2.—The value and efficiency of the estimated 5,000,000 radio receiving sets in the United States is menaced unless broadcasters reach a new voluntary agreement to check interference.

This was learned from Secretary of Commerce Hoover today who announced that regardless of passage or rejection of radio bills before congress, he will call a radio conference within the next few months.

Broadcasters, manufacturers, scientists, radio experts and amateurs will be asked to assemble in Washington for a third national conference to perfect voluntary regulations and eliminate situations that congressional legislation cannot reach.

Secretary Hoover said that he would avoid action of congress on radio legislation in order to determine the steps regarded as necessary to save what has become among the greatest of American pastimes.

What the radio situation will be five years from now Hoover admitted was a serious problem which he would not attempt to anticipate.

Practically all available air currents that will serve the average commercial receiving set, have distributed to broadcasters. A rapid increase in the applications for permits to operate broadcasting stations has been noted at the department of commerce. Fourteen new stations were recently licensed in New York city alone.

Adding to the interference caused by licensed stations, thousands of amateurs throughout the country have gone into the unauthorized broadcasting business and with their station to station calls have thoroughly complicated the situation.

On May 1 there were 577 broadcasting stations in operation in the United States, compared to three in September 3, 1921; 36 January 1, 1922; 570 January 31, 1923, and 534 January 31, 1924. How many unauthorized broadcasters are operating is not known to the department of commerce. Estimates on receiving sets are all the way from three millions to 15,000,000.

Practically all wave lengths between 222 and 600 meters have been assigned. Many large broadcast stations are operating on similar wave lengths, dividing the broadcasting time. Wave lengths below 22 and over 600 will not serve the average receiving set and those over 600 interfere with marine communication.

Secretary Hoover has asked the United States census bureau to secure radio statistics and the survey is now in progress.

Tagging All The Bases In The Major Leagues

Wayland Dean turned in $50,000 worth of pitching in confining the Braves to one run while the Giants were trifling with Genewich, McNamara and Yeargin for nine. Herr Groh led the triflers with four hits.

The Browns made merry at the expense of Young Whitehill, home runs by Williams, Tobin and Jacobson aiding in the 8 to 7 defeat of the Tigers. Sisler and Cobb each obliged with three hits.

The Cubs waited out a matter of 17 hits for 28 bases off May and Mays and won going away, from the Reds 8 to 1. The victory gave the Cubs possession of second place.

After winning eight in a row the Yanks finished second to the Senators, 3 to 2, in spite of the fact that they eased Walter Johnson into the locker room in the seventh. Marbury finished the pastime and managed to last to the wire, although hit hard.

Milton Scott again took an active part in a Dodger victory, the Cardinal driving out three hits during the casual excitement contiguous to a 10 to 4 decision over the Phillies.

A dropped thrown ball by Shaute started the White Sox off on the right foot in the open inning and they never stopped, socking all comers for the remainder of the day and beating the Indians, 13 to 7.

Jack Quinn, the elderly salivary gland, tamed the Athletics without undue trouble, the Red Sox driving Ronnel to the tall and uncut and winning 5 to 1.

The Pirates clustered hits in the third and sixth and took a fall out of the Cardinals, 8 to 6, Carey hobbling up with four hits.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

DADDY'S
EVENING
FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

MRS. COW'S PRIZE

Mrs. Cow had just come back from a fair where she had won a prize. She hadn't thought the blue ribbon they had hung over her place in the fair was particularly sensible.

If they had thought over some nice grass she would have thought that nicer than the blue ribbon.

Of course she had had plenty to eat there, but a blue ribbon was so silly a thing to give a cow.

When she got back to the meadow all the cows were much excited.

"Mon, mon," said Miss Cow, "tell us all about it."

"Yes, mon, mon," said Mrs. Brown and White Cow, "I can hardly wait to hear."

"Mon, mon," said Mrs. Spotted Cow, "don't bother to fix yourself—you look all right. Just sit right down and tell us all about it."

"So Mrs. Cow sat down in the meadow and the other cows sat about and Mrs. Cow said:

"It was an enormous fair. There were lots of other cows there, too, splendid cows.

"And there were pigs and sheep and goats and ducks and hens and roosters and pigeons and some fine bulls.

"Oh, it was a splendid fair.

"And I almost forgot to tell you, there were lots of people there, too, I almost forgot to mention them.

"Well, bands played, or maybe it was only one band, but they made such a lot of sound I would have said there were a good many bands.

"It all seemed very exciting after the quiet life I lead here in the meadow.

"I really wouldn't like it all the time. It's all right for a time," Mrs. Cow said decidedly, "to be at a fair but it is exhausting, and in a short time you long for home and the good old ways at home and the quiet and all of that.

"Yes, they gave me a blue ribbon—put it up so I could see it. That was silly, but you know I think people do a great many silly things. Fancy giving a cow a blue ribbon. What earthly use is a blue ribbon to me?

"I don't wear a ribbon in my hair—can't! And I wouldn't if I could.

"I don't wear a ribbon sash, as some do, or a necktie, or ribbon, as others do.

"But, anyway, for such things, my ribbon wouldn't be big enough.

"However, my master seemed pleased with it all and so I suppose it was all right.

"Well, people were eating all the time. They talk about cows chewing! Nothing compared to people.

"I heard a young man who said that cows always seemed to be eating, and he actually said that while he was munching popcorn and keeping his hand in the bag all the time so as to get at more as soon as he finished what was in his mouth.

"Yes, Cow friends, I certainly did see people eat!

"And they ate and talked and rushed about in great excitement.

"Well, I'm glad for the master's sake that I won the silly prize, but I'll tell you, Cow friends, I'm glad to be back in the meadow again.

"And another thing—I didn't lose my Cow good sense by winning a prize. I'm the same simple, unaffected cow you've always known!"

When a man is in a hurry why is he like a locksmith? He makes a bolt for the door.

Why can't a fisherman be generous? Because his business makes him sell fish (selfish).

Why is the nose placed in the middle of the face? Because it is the center (center).

Why is it so peculiar that a man's toes are so short? They grow by the foot, don't they?

Why is a chicken crossing the road like murder? Because it is a fowl (foul) proceeding.

If you were a cat, where would you want to spend your vacation? In the Canary Islands.

Pa Gets an Earful

The telephone in a well-known surgeon's office rang. When the doctor answered, the voice at the end of the line inquired, "Who is this?"

The doctor recognizing the voice of his seven-year-old son, replied, "The smartest man in the world."

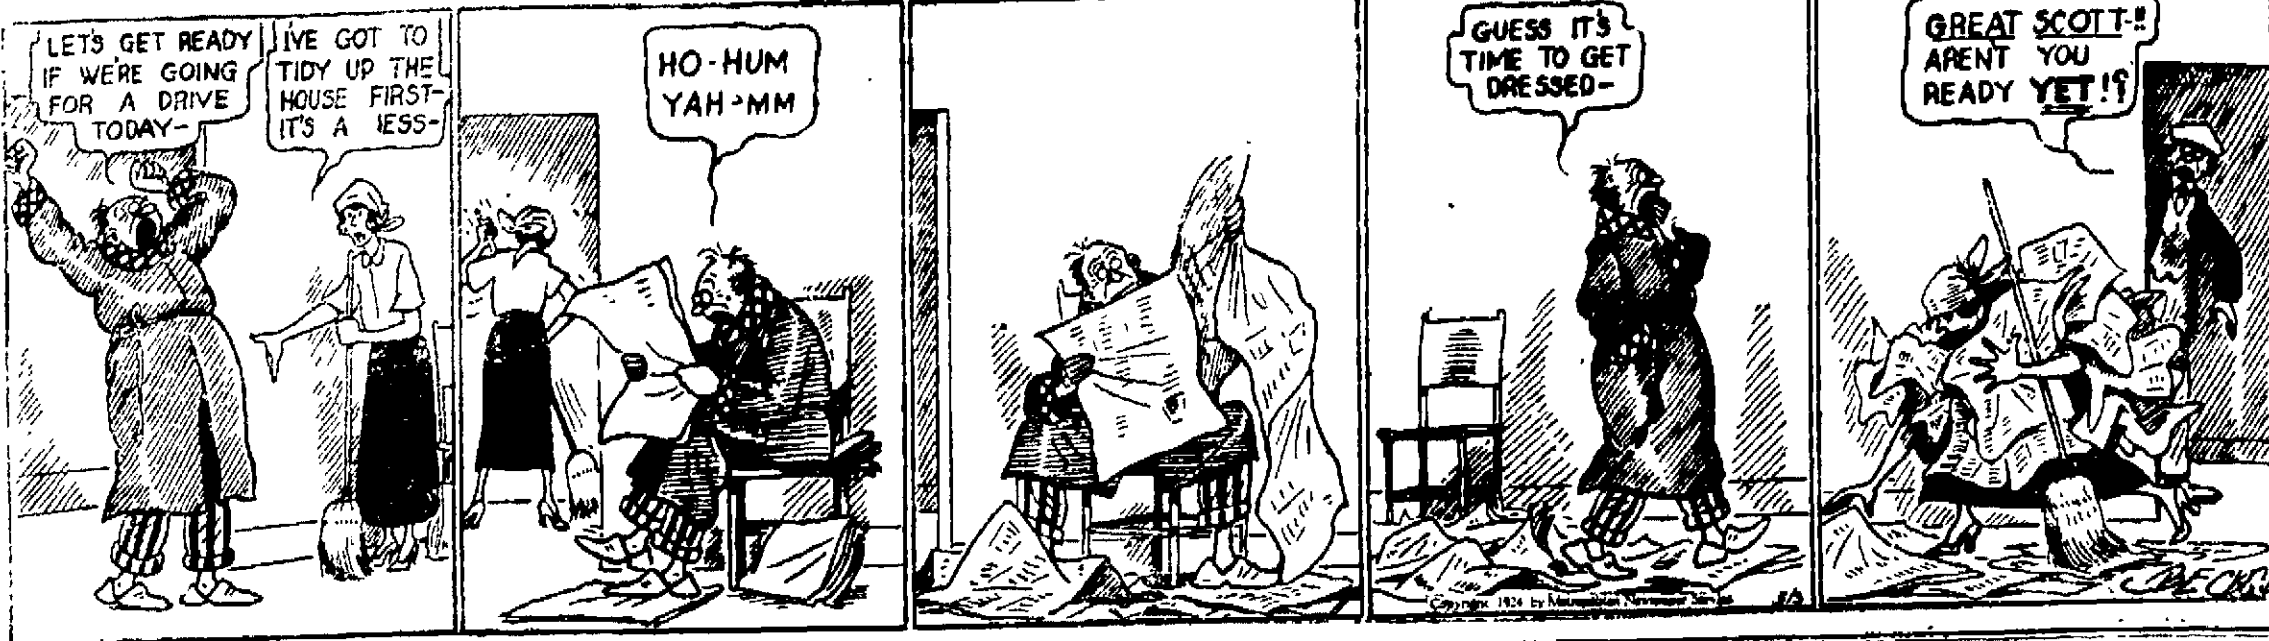

"I beg your pardon," said the boy. "I have the wrong number."—Tit-Bits (London).

GAS BUGGIES—And They Wonder Why Their Wives Grow Weary

The KITCHEN CABINET

I know a wall where
The roses wave breaks
And the blossoms scatter
Like foam and makes High holden as
The bees come by
And the dragon fly

GOOD EATING

When the oven is in use and one wishes to utilize all the space, try baking small sausage cakes with quartered potatoes, basting the potatoes occasionally so that they will be a golden brown when tender. Serve the sausage on the platter with the potatoes around it.

Braised Ducks.—Lay three slices of fat ham upon the rack of the roaster, next a minced onion, a stalk of celery chopped, a sliced carrot and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Clean and truss but do not stuff the ducks. Lay them on the vegetables and pour boiling water over them. Cover the roaster closely and cook in a moderate oven for two hours. Take up the ducks, strain the liquor from the pan and let it stand sufficiently to harden the fat. Skim the gravy carefully and return to the fire in a saucepan, keeping the ducks closely covered over boiling water. Boil up the gravy, add a teaspoonful of lemon juice and thicken slightly with browned flour. Have the giblets ready boiled and chopped and add them to the gravy. Pour this sauce again over the ducks in the roaster, bring all to the boiling point and serve fowls with the sauce poured round them. Serve with apple sauce and currant jelly.

Cabinet Pudding.—Sprinkle the bottom of a well-buttered pudding mold with chopped citron, raisins and currants, add a layer of sponge cake and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon and cloves. Alternate these layers until the mold is full. Pour over the mixture two cupsful of milk, two beaten eggs, a pinch of salt and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Let stand for an hour, then steam well covered in a pan of boiling water for an hour. Turn out and serve with lemon hard sauce.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 2, 1924.

Mr. Pinchot no sooner assumes an offensive against President Coolidge and Mr. Mellon than he is thrown on the defensive. His explanation of why he recommended the employment of Mr. Heney on a private tour of exploration of the Treasury Department was weighed by Pennsylvania and found wanting.

In response to a Senate resolution of inquiry, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur informed that body that two former Cabinet officers and two former Senators have urged claims against the Government before his department. They are all Democrats, one of them being Mr. McAdoo of oil and income tax renown.

It is estimated that 140,000 people have applied for tickets to the Democratic National Convention. Madison Square Garden will accommodate only 14,000. Twenty or more Democrats have also applied for a 4-year lease on the White House, but that mansion will accommodate only one family, and the present occupant has an option for four years more. No wonder the Democratic organization wears that worried look.

After a vacation of six months, Trotsky has reentered Russian politics with a ringing denunciation of the United States. He charges this country with planning a gas and aero war on Japan and Europe. Nothing so cements a people as threatened external attack, a truth that the Soviet leaders know and utilize to the full. The Russian people are constantly told that the world is arrayed against them. It is a government by such men that the United States is asked to recognize.

The fact that the United States does not care to accept Japanese immigrants on equal terms with those of other nations does not mean that the Japanese are an inferior race. They can point to their rapid rise from obscurity to a world power, a transformation with no equal in modern history, and find ample justification for their claims to equality with other nations. It ought to be conceded by the Japanese, as it is by us, that racial differences may make amalgamation inexpedient but are no indication of inferiority in either race. Canada and Australia exclude the Japs, but Japan and Great Britain are on friendly terms. The Japanese themselves exclude the Chinese, but profess friendship for them.

INDUSTRIALISM'S HERITAGE.

As yet we hardly realize the vast change that has been wrought by the development of modern industrialism, a change not only dictating the employment but affecting the character of capacity of great masses of men. Two years ago the British government made arrangements to employ $15,000,000 annually to assist British emigrants to settle in Australia, New Zealand and Canada, those dominions at the same time making provision for the reception of the new settlers. It was confidently expected that 50,000 assisted emigrants would go to Australia annually, 17,000 to Canada and 10,000 to New Zealand. But up to last October only 23,479 of the assisted had left for Australia, 4,503 to New Zealand and 3,861 to Canada, in spite of the fact that Great Britain's unemployed amounted to nearly two million, and contrary to the precedent of the heavy emigration from Great Britain after the Napoleonic wars a hundred years ago.

In explanation it is suggested that Great Britain has become so highly industrialized that her present population no longer supplies the old adventurous type of settler stock. "The yeoman, the farmer and the farm laborer of initiative have almost disappeared; and the mill hand and the factory operative who have taken their place know instinctively that they are unfitted to wrestle with frontier life." Has not a similar change been going on in America in consequence of the development and ever-extending influence of industrialism? Surely something of the sort is indicated in the news that our farmers are moving to town at the rate of more than a million annually and by the Department of Agriculture's showing that "Nearly a quarter" of the farms in the United States have been abandoned "in the last three years."

DO ATHLETES DIE YOUNG?

You have read from time to time that athletes die young, that they have a higher rate of mortality than non-athletes.

Just as often, you have read articles, also based on statistics, showing that the athletes as a class live longer than those who were not athletes in their youth.

When the Surgeon General of the United States Navy produces figures depicting the life of the naval officers from boys in their teens up to the age of sixty two, you can't ignore them.

He states that officers noted for their athletic prowess during their cadet life at the Naval Academy, were breaking down sooner than the non-athletic cadets.

On the other hand Dr. Anderson of Yale reports, that after investigating the known deaths of all students who have graduated during the past fifty years, that the mortality amongst the athletes was just about half that of the non-athletes.

Now what are you going to do with two statements so directly opposed to one another, I don't believe the ordinary statistics along this line can give you much choice.

For instance you'd naturally expect men who were prominent in athletics, who had won their color, would be of superior physique, superior fibre as it were, and should resist illness much better than one of poor physique. In other words the athletes are practically picked men.

On the other hand, the non-athletes would not mean just men who did not like or go in for athletics, but all the non-athletic participating students of the college. There would be the men who would not be strong enough to compete for a color. Men who might try for it, but were hardly good enough for it.

Further, one man might win his color for simply doing a high jump, whilst another would put in months of intensive training at football. One might get his color in baseball, another in boxing, where the training might be light, and another in basketball which is the hardest, on the heart of any other known athletic sport.

Then again an athlete, who when he graduates, continues to take light exercise, to walk a bit, and keep an eye on himself generally, really preserves the asset of a good body with its accompaniment, good health.

The athlete who, immediately on leaving college rides in a motor car, takes no exercise whatever, and yet preserves his big appetite, has made his athletics a liability, because he has a large strong heart that will be asking in vain for work to keep it from getting flabby, and lungs that will be asking for air to completely fill them, because Nature abhors a vacuum.

A little thought about diet and exercise will give the athlete a little advantage all his life.

HOW

ORANGE INDUSTRY BOOMED CENTURY AGO AT BAHIA.

About a century ago at Bahia in Brazil, a new orange appeared. The fruit was a freak, without seed. To the knowing in orange growing, however, this orange suggested much.

Nevertheless it was fifty years before William Saunders, chief of the government's propagating station in Washington, got twelve of the trees producing this fruit into the country. These died, but others were reproduced, and two trees were sent to California in 1878.

Rich in romance of its settlement, California can number these trees as two of the most important things that ever crossed the continent. They gave birth to the entire navel orange industry of the western state. Still alive today and bearing fruit, these trees are responsible for a large percentage of the groves which cover nearly 200,000 acres of California's soil.

Florida was the early center of the orange industry of the United States. It rapidly advanced to contend at home with the fruit from the Mediterranean.

Just as it was threatening invasion of the markets of Europe came the freezing winter of 1894-5. The crop failed. For the next decade it was an uphill battle to repair the loss. Confidence restored, however, the orange industry of this southern state is again on a firm basis. Louisiana's groves suffered also from the cold winter and the state has only recently come forward again.

In California a citrus industry representing more than two hundred million dollars of capital and employing nearly 50,000 people was built up. Oranges are the most important figure in it. The western state came forward to supply four-fifths of the home demand for the yellow fruit and to compete in foreign markets.—Nature Magazine.

How to Start Avalanche

Avalanches are sometimes started by trivial causes. Even a whipper has been known to set them off and lives have been lost by a climber shouting to his companions when crossing a snow slope. The starting of an avalanche which a few years ago overwhelmed a caravan of sleighs in an Alpine pass was attributed to the tinkle of sleigh bells, and ever since the use of bells on this route has been prohibited. Newcomers to Switzerland often inquire what purpose is served by the little barriers dotted about the mountain slopes. These are the avalanche breakers, without which traffic on many of the Alpine lines and passes would be impossible for part of the year. It would be futile to place obstructions across the foot of the track taken by an avalanche. Once the mass has gained momentum it sweeps all before it. So thick stone barriers are built on the slopes of the mountains.—Detroit News.

How Depth Is Measured

The depth of the ocean is measured by a long, thin wire, which is wound on a drum so that when wound up it is like the thread on a spool. At the end of this wire which is lowered a heavy leaden weight is attached. The ship must be perfectly still so that the wire will go direct to the bottom and not at an angle. The leaden weight pulls the wire off the spool until it hits the bottom. There is a counter arrangement on the spool which shows the number of times the lengths of the wire have been taken off the spool, and thus indicates the entire length of wire which has descended. In this way the depth of the ocean at that point is ascertained.

How an Alligator Breathes

The New York Zoological Park says that if an alligator has been in a quiet mood and the blood is well aerated and there is steady respiration, it might be possible for the animal to remain under water for half an hour's time. In hibernating these animals go into holes, where they can breathe. This is different from frogs and toads, which actually hibernate under water, but these creatures are provided with aerated blood through the skin, while the alligator is covered with scales or plates and must depend upon the lungs.

How Many Generations?

Q.—How many generations have there been since the people in the Mayflower landed?

A.—A generation is reckoned by some as thirty-three years, and by others as twenty-five years. Actually there might be quite a variation in the number of generations of descendants in the different Mayflower families. In 300 years there might be from eight to fifteen generations.

How Sizes and Sevens Started

The original form of the expression "sixes and sevens" was "to set on six and seven." It is based on the language of dieing, and is probably a corruption of "to set on cinque and six," these being the highest numbers. The present form has been used since the Eighteenth century.

Valuable Advice

Tell me how a young man uses his spare time, and I'll foretell his future. The youngster who studies in spare hours is sure of promotion. But the lad who just "kills time" when he's old will whine about "hard luck" and "no chance." Think this over, boys.

U. S. CONSUMES MOST SULPHUR

Also the Greatest Producer of Precious Mineral.

The United States is the world's greatest consumer of sulphur. Scientists maintain that, in the Twentieth century, a nation's consumption of sulphur is a true measure of progress in civilization. Sulphur figures in practically every important manufacturing process.

Not only does the United States consume more sulphur than any other nation; it has become since the war the outstanding producer of sulphur. A bulletin from the National Geographic Society, "Back of this rise to prominence," continues the bulletin, "is a world drama between machinery and muscle, in which the United States and Sicily played the leading roles. The United States, armed with steam pipes, won. Sicily, actually starving was about to give up when the American sulphur producers made an agreement to let Sicily serve the entire Italian market and ship a certain amount to other countries. It was an echo of the industrial revolution of the Eighteenth century when machines began to do men's work."

Sicilian Mining Primitive. Sicily in certain localities still mines sulphur as it was mined hundreds of years ago; even as the Aztecs mined gold and silver by laboriously carrying ore up in baskets. In some places the old smelting process is in use. This consists of erecting a pile of sulphur, lighting it and letting the sulphur's own heat melt the ore. Only 40 per cent of the mineral is recovered by this crude process and the product is impure. Better mines have come in which the sulphur is melted and in some cases it is taken off in a volatile form, cooled to a liquid, and then to a solid block called "solfogreggio."

Driven by competition Sicilians and children in the mines. Child labor presented itself in its most horrible aspects as children of seven and eight years tugged at baskets of ore in ill-made mines. Many were permanently deformed by the burdens. Gases exhaled by sulphur compounds make the mines unusually dangerous. Sulphur is found in paying quantities in many parts of the United States, but the richest deposits were discovered in Louisiana and Texas, near the coast. Here thousands of dollars and many lives were lost in wrestling sulphur from Nature. Quicksand, the great enemy of miners, was always on the job until finally necessity motivated invention. Franch, a mining engineer, had an idea which revolutionized the sulphur industry.

A Revolutionary Idea. Over a known sulphur "dome" 4,000 feet in diameter, a derrick looking for all the world like an oil derrick, was erected and a shaft forced down 1,000 feet to the sulphur. Three pipes were put down the shaft and in one super-heated water under pressure was sent to man's work. Sulphur melts at 240 degrees Fahrenheit so it dissolved in the water. Hot air under compression was forced down a second pipe and soon hot water with liquefied sulphur came spouting up the third pipe. The stream from a "sulphur well" is directed into bins where the water is taken off, leaving the mineral generally more than 90 per cent pure. Steam hoists load it direct to freight cars. Economies of this process excluded the competition of cheapest Sicilian labor. The United States now produces 1,800,000 tons annually, almost nine times as much as Sicily mines.

"If the world had known that a nation could be judged by its sulphur, England might have realized at once the American colonies' importance. The first ore shipment ever made from the United States was sulphur. When Capt. John Smith established the Jamestown settlement in 1607, the colonists spent more time hunting gold than planting crops. Ships starting back for England filled their holds with what we now call 'fool's gold.' The precious yellow mineral the colonists unearthed was sulphur; they sent pyrites back to England."

Court to Decide Who Will Pay Quake Damage

A suit to determine whether the buyer or seller of Japanese silk is to lose as a result of the earthquake and fire at Yokohama last fall was filed in the Supreme court at New York recently by S. A. Wenger & Co., against the Proper Silk Hosiery Mills. The plaintiff asks that the defendant be directed to arbitrate their dispute under the rules of the Silk Association of America.

The petition says the Proper Mills bought sixty bales of raw silk at $8.80 a pound from the Wenger company and the silk was appropriated to the account of the buyer last June, stored in Yokohama at the risk of the buyer, and destroyed September 1.

To Carry Army Mules With Vacuum Cleaners

Never again will the army mule or horse be submitted to the tortures of the currycomb, if recommendations made by the cavalry board of the army in Washington are carried out. The vacuum cleaner is the modern weapon of cleanliness so far as army animals are concerned, the board declares, and it is urged that they be used in the future for grooming army horses and mules.

Who Knows Richard Roehlke?

Through the columns of The Freeman, Sheriff Wells hopes to reach someone who may be able to supply information which is needed by Ernest Richard Roehlke who believes he is a native of Ulster county and needs information regarding his birth in order to procure a passport and return to America.

Roehlke's letter, addressed to the sheriff, was written in German, and Sheriff Wells procured the services of Lawyer Henry Klein in making a translation. Any information which may be furnished by readers of The Freeman should be sent to Sheriff Wells.

Roehlke's letter is as follows:

Wieson, March 13, 1924.
To the Sheriff of Marlborough,

Esteemed Sir:

The undersigned who was born in America approaches you with the request that you examine the birth registers to ascertain if they contain any record of his birth. According to statements of our mother, now deceased, I must have been born in Hazlet, New Jersey, but on inquiry we were informed that their registers do not contain any record of my birth, although there are entries as to the birth of my brother. As we, that is my parents, my brother and I resided for a considerable time in Marlborough, it is possible that I was born there, and I would ask you in case there is a record of my birth there to send me a birth certificate, and to let me know your charge, and I will send you the money at once. For your information I would give you the following facts:

Name—Ernest Richard, Roehlke or Rohika.

Date of Birth—May 18, 1896.

Color—White.

Father's Name—Fred Fritz Roehlka or Rohika, farmer.

Mother's Name—Lina Rosa; maiden name, Fleming.

Father's Age—34.

Mother's Age—32.

In case no record is found there, I would request that you send this letter to Meriden, Conn., as we resided there also. We left Meriden in 1901 for Germany, except my father who remained in America and from whom we have not heard since 1907. Will you kindly send me the birth certificate if you can obtain one as soon as possible, as I desire to return to America soon and the consulate requires said certificate?

Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain

Sincerely yours

ERNEST RICHARD ROEHLKE.

Wieson near Wiesenburg, Saxony, Germany.

P. S. You will probably wonder why I spell my name Roehlke although both are correct. My brother's birth certificate is spelled Roehlke, while we are known as Rohika here in Germany. Our father spell his name Roehlke in his letters.

MAIL PILOT FINDS NEW ALASKA ROUTE

Flyer, Lost in Arctic Darkness Cuts Time 16 Days

Washington.—Lost in an airplane in the stygian darkness of an Alaskan night, without a star above or a light below to guide him, was the experience of Carl E. Elison, air mail pilot, on his first trip over an experimental route between Fairbanks and McGrath, Alaska, according to his report received recently by Postmaster General New.

So interesting was the report of Elison's adventure that the postmaster general read it at cabinet meeting and President Coolidge wrote a personal letter to the air mail pilot congratulating him. Accompanying this letter went a similar one from Mr. New.

"I congratulate you on the conspicuous success of your undertaking," the President said. "Your experience provides a unique and interesting chapter in the rapidly developing science of aerial navigation."

Elison made the first leg of his trip from Fairbanks to McGrath without mishap. He began the return trip at 2:35 p. m.

"I expected," Elison said in his report, "to get home by 5:10 p. m., at dusk. In one hour and fifteen minutes later I reached Lake Minchumina, which is nearly half way. Later I passed over a stream which was not on the map and I thought it must be the Kantishna river. Still later I reached this stream, but thought it was the Tanana river.

"To the left I saw a bluff which looked like the Nenana bluff. I struck for the bluff and everything was all right except that the town of Nenana was not in its place. By this time it was pitch dark. I could not believe that I had got 50 miles off my course after the same compass course had brought me half way exactly on the course. I left the river, going east.

"I wandered around completely lost for most of an hour. I went back to the big river and, while following it, saw a flare in the distance. I hit for it and it turned out to be my home field. There was a light in front of the hangar."

Among the letters brought from McGrath by Elison was one addressed to Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general. This letter arrived in Washington 16 days earlier than it could have had the first stage of its journey been made by dog team.

The estate, states Wirth, consists of 65,000 acres of land and gold and copper mines in Australia, apartment houses and residences in European cities and 246 oil royalties in addition to thousands and thousands of dollars in cash. "The estate is estimated to be worth over $50,000,000," states Wirth. "and as soon as it is settled I will put competent managers in charge and continue to live in Lodi where I was born."

Mandonini Held For Grand Jury

Released on $1,000 Bail Furnished by Washburn Bros. — Assault Case Grew Out of Use of Word "Scab." It Is Asserted.

At a hearing in the Town Hall, Saugerties, Thursday afternoon, before Police Justice Gardner, Michael Mandonini, of Glasco, was held for the grand jury on an assault charge preferred by Louis Bruno, also of Glasco.

It was alleged that the trouble arose over the strike situation at Glasco at noon, on March 26th, the fracas taking place on the Empire brickyard at that place. It was alleged that the word "scab" was called at Mandonini by some union men and after Mandonini had invited them out for a fight, it was testified that Mandonini pulled a revolver from his belt and aimed it at Bruno. The gun was offered as evidence. The stories of the witnesses named varied.

The complainant, Louis Bruno, was called to the witness stand first and testified as to what happened.

The first witness was Thomas Bono of Glasco, who testified on behalf of the complainant.

Frank Bruno, brother of the complainant, also testified in behalf of Louis Bruno.

Frank Cafaldo of Glasco, was very emotional while giving testimony, getting up and walking around the chair, etc., gesticulating with his hands while speaking. Cafaldo testified on behalf of Mandonini, the defendant, stating that the word "scab" was shouted by the men first. This testimony was denied by other witnesses. Cafaldo stated that he was a union man only because he was forced to join.

Pasquale Naccarato of Glasco was with Mandonini at the time of the alleged trouble. It was found an Italian interpreter was necessary for Naccarato, and Antonio Serra of Glasco, were sworn by the judge.

It was later testified by a witness that Mandonini had been struck below the eye, breaking the flesh, by Louis Bruno, complainant.

Thomas Purfido, also of Glasco, when questioned could not give any definite testimony as he stated he was not present nor near the spot where the "fracas" took place at the time of the alleged assault. Purfido was then excused.

Surrogate George F. Kaufman was the attorney for Mandonini, and Chris J. Flanagan of this city, appeared for the complainant, Bruno.

Mandonini was committed to the Ulster county jail until bail was later fixed by Judge Hasbrouck of this city at $1,000. The Washburn Brothers' Company of Glasco, went the bond. Harold Styles of this city acted as court stenographer.

No Actors' Strike June 1

By Telegram to the Freeman
New York, May 2.—There will be no general strike of actors June 1, with its consequent disastrous effect upon the theatrical business of the country, it was predicted in authoritative informed circles today as the Producing Managers' Association met to discuss the crisis.

What probably will happen, it was said, is this:

1. The managers will decide first of all, that a strike must be averted.
2. The issue with the actors' Equity Association will be compromised and a ten year agreement signed.
3. The compromise will mean, it was said, that theatrical companies for the next ten years will be composed of 80 per cent Equity members and 20 per cent Fidelity or non-Equity members.
4. The Fidelity members are mostly comprised of stars who resent the idea of working under a union contract, preferring the old method of dealing personally with the management.

While officials of the Equity announced they are still determined on a complete Equity shop it is regarded as a certainty they will agree to a compromise if effected on the 80-20 basis.

The unsettled condition as a result of the present crisis is beginning to show its effect along the Rialto. Florenz Ziegfeld, who is opposed to the Equity shop, announced today that the "Follies" will close May 17 because of existing conditions. The road tour of the "Follies" of 1923 will terminate at Newark May 19 and he said the companies Pacific Coast tour was cancelled because of the probability of a strike.

Threats

I consider it a mark of great prudence in a man to abstain from threats or any contemptuous expressions for neither of these weaken the enemy, but threats make him more cautious, and the other excites his hatred, and a desire to revenge himself—Machiavelli.

Mules in Mines
It was only a few years ago that the donkey was a necessity in coal mines. After the trolley cars were loaded with coal the donkeys pulled them to the opening in the mine shaft, where the coal was hauled to the surface. Lately, electrical equipment has replaced the donkey, but even now, in a great number of mines, the donkey is still used to haul the coal from the part of the mine in which it is dug to the shaft, where it is elevated to the surface.

Prof. Regan at Hi-Y Meeting

New York Military Academy Team Entertained at Last Meeting—Of-fices for Coming Year Installed.

The last Hi-Y meeting of the year was held at the "Y" rooms on Wednesday night. The players from the New York Military Academy team, who played K. H. S. in baseball were entertained. Professor Regan of Oakwood Prep school was the speaker.

Prof. Regan said that most high school students are afraid of being too good. Yet there is no danger that most of them will become too good. At times goodness is cowardice.

Prof. Regan told a story of two high school girls who left school in the middle of the year and took jobs in the General Electric works at Schenectady. They did not receive very high class jobs. One received a job working with a man to aid tar-tar in destroying a certain bug. The other had a job helping with some experiment. The first girl did not do her work faithfully and was discharged. The other girl stuck to her job and read many books con-cerning the experiment. For this reason, when the man who was doing the experiment left she received his position.

The vice-president of the G. E. works told Prof. Regan how they procure good men for the jobs in their company. They first go around to colleges and pick about 300 honor men. They bring them to the G. E. works and pay them for studying intensively for three months. During the period, the students go to ban-quets and are scattered among the foremen and officials. There officials pick their men while at the ban-quets.

Prof. Regan said that the high school boys hate hypocrisy. He said that in anything or any organization where high standards were required there would be hypocrites. He said that if he were to be in an accident of some sort in which the life of his rescuer was endangered he would rather have a high school boy than anyone else.

Prof. Regan said that he was not afraid of high school boys being physical cowards, but that they might be the other kind of a hypo-crite. Prof. Regan said that he would try to get the moral strength to resist temptations.

He told a story of a Hi-Y presi-dent who saved a young freshman out in a Kansas county high school, from becoming a very bad thief and probably losing his career. The Hi-Y president saved him from disgrace when he found him rifling lockers because he didn't have enough money to live on. In the later years this same man became an honor student and was president of the Hi-Y.

Prof. Regan then installed the following officers for next year. "Dick" Whiston, president; "Left" Pennington, vice president and Wilbur Tellez, secretary and treasurer. Prof. Regan led in a prayer for these officers who are to lead the Hi-Y next year.

Mr. Hall then said a few words to the N. Y. M. A. men who were being entertained. Their speech re-sponded with a hearty "thank you."

The meeting then adjourned.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

The first president of the Ameri-can Bible Society was Elias Boudinot, an eminent philanthropist, who was born in Philadelphia on May 2, 1749, one hundred and eighty-four years ago today. Boudinot, who was pres-ident of the Continental Congress in 1782, was one of the organizers of the American Bible Society, and was its head from the founding of the so-ciety in 1816 to his death in 1821. The American Bible Society, which will celebrate its centenary two years hence, was modeled along the lines of the British and Foreign Bible Society, organized twelve years earlier. The society issues over four million volumes a year, the output including Bibles in many for-eign tongues and Indian languages. During its existence of ninety-eight years the society has circulated over a hundred hundred million volumes. The British Society, in its 110 years, has distributed about two hundred and fifty million Bibles. The Ameri-can society, like the British organi-zation, was formed for the sole ob-ject of encouraging a wider circula-tion of the Scriptures without note or comment.

ANNE OF AUSTRIA.

Anne of Austria, daughter of Philip II of Spain, and Queen of Louis XIII, exercised great influence over the fortunes of France at a critical period in its history. She was a woman of strong will and aroused the enmity of Richelieu, who aroused against her the suspicions of her husband. He forced her to an-swer charges of infidelity at the council table, but she refused, and the matter was dropped. When King Louis died he left her in power, reigning for her son, afterwards Louis XIV. She faced an insurrec-tion during which she was detained in prisoner in her palace, and finally granted reforms sought by the popu-lace. However, by gathering about her able statesmen she was able to gain the upper hand and it she who founded absolute monarchy in France.

THE HUDSON BAY COMPANY.

One of the greatest and most long-lived commercial organizations of the world was chartered 254 years ago today, namely, The Hudson Bay Company, the last of the great En-glish commercial corporations. This company, chartered by Charles II, exercised its authority on the con-tinent of North America for two hun-dred years, its monopoly of the trade having been brought to an end on June 23, 1870. In 1821, the juris-diction of the company, which had authority to make war on savage tribes, was extended to the Pacific, this jurisdiction to last for a period of 20 years.

The Hudson Bay Company in its charter acquired the sole and abso-lute right government of the vast waters of the Hudson Bay, on con-dition of paying yearly to the king and his successors "two elk and two black beavers, whenever and as often as we, our heirs and successors shall happen to enter in to said countries, territories and regions."

Slim People Live Longest

Life insurance companies have set forth the importance of not getting too fat. They claim that 30 is the magical age in the health development of most individuals. A person is supposed to nearly approach the normal at thirty, they say. Under thirty one may weigh more than the average called for in the standard height, weight and age tables, but after this age the longest life span prevails among those whose weights are uniformly below the aver-age.

Portrait Hidden in Ring

Rare indeed were the rings worn by Stuart partisans in England after the execution of King Charles I. Under a large diamond, in a hidden cap-sule, was concealed a miniature por-trait of the king.

U. S. DEPOSITORY FOR THE OLD WORLD

To Play Important Part in Financing Big Enterprises

Washington.—The United States strengthened its position as a world depository in 1923 as the "light to capital" continued from unstable economic conditions of the old world, the Department of Commerce said in a summary of international transactions. In the future, the department predicted, this country will take a more and more important part in financing world enterprises.

Once again the "invisible" trade, the transactions for which there are no government records, played an influential part in the balance of the books. The "invisible" items last year were such as cut to $19,000,000 a balance of $389,000,000 in favor of the United States in the transactions passing through the custom houses. Included in the "invisible" items was an estimated $30,000,000 in smuggled liquors.

To Finance World Enterprises. Ocean freight appeared to be the only consequential service or commodity for which the United States paid foreigners more than it received. On the other hand, foreign investments brought $394,000,000 into the United States, a net increase of one-fifth over 1922. As compared with 1922, exports from this country were $341,000,000 greater and imports were $708,000,000 more in 1923, showing a healthy growth in American trade.

"It seems likely," the survey said, "that the United States will take a more active part in financing world enterprises in the future than it has in the past. This means an increasing amount of interest and profits on foreign investments and consequently an increasing volume of imports—not necessarily from the countries in which the investments are made, but from the whole world. At the same time, with the growth of our country and the increasing skill of American bankers and exporters, it is likely that exports will continue to increase, although not as fast as imports."

New Loans Give Boost. "New loans inevitably give a temporary boost to exports and frequently a permanent one. On the other hand, interest is received in the form of imports of one sort or another. If the European governments that have not yet started to pay their debts to the United States should do so, there can be little doubt that imports of merchandise would regularly exceed exports, as is usually the case with creditor countries."

Discussing the items that went to make up the "invisible" transactions, the survey said that American tourists had spent something like $300,000,000 in pleasure, and American citizens gave about $70,000,000 for foreign and philanthropic purposes.

Tracing out the "invisible" trading, the survey mentions interest and dividends, ocean freights, governmental repayments, services to tourists, charitable and missionary expenditures and remittances of immigrants, all of which showed a balance of $370,000,000 that went out over what came in.

There were movements of capital, including new foreign loans, sale and purchase of outstanding securities, foreign bonds paid off, government debt payments and United States currency which brought into the country $125,000,000 in excess of the amount going out. There was a balance in shipments of gold and silver in favor of this country of $296,000,000.

Hen With Monkey Face Will Be Sent to the Zoo

New Rochelle, N. Y.—A freak bird-animal with the body and feathers of a chicken but the face of a monkey in place of the chicken head and beak is being sent to the Bronx zoo in New York by the New Rochelle poultry market, 87 Lawton street. Instead of a beak the chicken has a pug nose. Its tongue is like that of the South American ant eater, but its body and feathers are of the White Crystal variety of fowl. The chicken drinks like an animal and not like a fowl. It lowers its head into the water and drinks its fill with its nose under the water instead of filling its bill, lifting its head and then letting the water drain down its neck, like most birds.

Dainty Things to Enhance Costumes

Ribbons, Fringe, Neckwear Prominent Among Ornaments This Season.

In just what way the gorgeous sash ribbons now shown so lavishly will serve is puzzling, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times. The handsome brocaded ones, the metal and colored silks that come in very wide ribbons, are used in many ways in evening and afternoon dress; as waistcoats, panels, trains, sashes, girdles. Some of these are interesting because of their artistic patterns and rich quality, which is emphasized as they are introduced with plain materials.

In millinery these elaborate ribbons are exceedingly popular. But the plain silk and satin ribbons, fine in weave and beautiful in color, that are now offered in enormous variety—well, there seems but one answer. That is the return of the normal waist-line in summer and lingerie frocks. These require a sash and bow, and the pictures of styles in the early '30s illustrate the coquettish fashion of wearing wide sash ribbon about the waist, and tied either in an enormous bow at the back, or a loose knot and ends at the side.

Fringe has had seasons of popularity from time to time on gowns, wraps, negligees. It has been used by modistes following Paris fashions, in ways artistic, modish, eccentric, as the seasons ran. Introduced on some swaggar frock from a house of distinction, it had a vogue, after which, being copied ad libitum, it dropped to the tanks of the commonplace, and later died a natural death.

Fringe in very narrow widths has been seen as a finish for the bottom of a petticoat or drop skirt. But the last word in lingerie, the flirty, thin-veiling effects of chiffon and georgette, is frankly embellished with fringe, some of it several inches deep. Combinations of fashionable underwear in the loveliest delicate shades are trimmed top and bottom with silk fringe of the same color as the garment itself.

Radically new and most attractive are some of the things in neckwear shown in the best shops. The feather boa is conspicuous in all the pretty light colors and in sizes large and small. It is intended to be worn about the neck as in the style of by-gone days. But some of the French designers attach it to the evening gown at any point for an original effect, even to trailing on the ground.

In the latest fancy neck ruffs, some are made of plaited silk or chiffon as a foundation, with a large cluster of ostrich at the fastening, or used as a fringe as light as thistle down. These are the daintiest things imaginable, and add a touch of elegance to the outfit.

The large rosettes made of ribbon, silk or flowers that are shown among the novelties will find places as garniture on frocks and hats. Some are as large as a salad plate, uniform and tailored, and are used effectively on one-piece gowns, especially in the soft wools and silks for informal wear. Almost every gown among the late draped models has some such motif, those for evening wear having, of course, the more elaborate ornaments, which are of gauge ribbon, silk, velvet and metal flowers.

Nursery Towel Will Add to Child's Room

Here is an easily made nursery towel that a child will like. Select linen or cotton material the same width as that used for guest towels. It usually comes about eighteen inches wide.

Have each towel twenty-seven inches long. Add to each end a two-inch hem of colored material. To do this cut two strips of the colored material each one-half inch longer than the width of the towel. Turn in a quarter of an inch along the top, bottom and both short edges of each strip. Baste the top edge of the bands to the ends of the towel. Turn the band over to the under side of the towel. Stitch in place with small stitches. Or, if this is too much work, you can have the colored band hemstitched on. Cut a little bird or other animal form out of the colored material and applique it to the end of the towel, about two inches above the hem. It is nice to have the hem and trimming carry out the color scheme of the child's room.

Attracts Attention

An evening slipper which is attracting a good deal of attention is of black brocaded satin.

The thinking woman is not afraid of housework.

Does a Married Woman Look It?

WE often say that a man "looks married"—poking fun at wedlock. But too often we really can distinguish the married from the unmarried woman—and frequently merely by the condition of her hands.

Too many housewives believe their hands must remain red, rough and coarse-looking because they've so much cleaning and washing to do. But this is a mistake, as thousands of intelligent housewives know.

Red, coarse-looking hands are caused by using impure soap which irritates the skin. To avoid this ugliness you must choose your household soap with the same care that you choose your toilet soap. This is why so many thinking women insist upon Kirkman's Soap for all their household and laundry uses.

KIRKMAN'S Soap is as harmless to the hands or to the most delicate fabrics as is the most exquisite toilet soap. It is free from lye to irritate the skin. It is made only of the purest and finest materials.

And there's no quicker nor more thorough cleanser than Kirkman's Soap.

For the sake of your hands insist upon Kirkman's.

Choral Society Plans Concert

Woodstock, for some time known as an art center, now seems to be coming to the fore as a music center with the residence in the colony of a number of musical composers. The latest concrete evidence of the growth of a music center is found in the Woodstock Choral Society, organized some months ago by Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, and at present enjoying a healthy life under the directorship of C. H. Johnson, a musical composer and director of New York, who is now living at Woodstock.

The society has half a hundred members and is now planning an initial concert to be given on May 25. For this concert two soloists have been engaged. Miss Marion Eames of Woodstock, soprano, will assist with the program. Miss Eames has previously donated the use of the League Studio Hall for rehearsals and for the concert, and this in addition to lending cooperation to the extent of several solo numbers for the May concert.

The second soloist will be Miss Carmen Reuben, contralto, of New York city, who will give several numbers, including compositions by Woodstock composers. On the program will be selections by the following composers who have made Woodstock their residence for part, or all of the year: Francis Wyman, Lillian Hemstreet, C. H. Johnson and probably L. Gruenberg. Thus the choral society seeks to make permanent the talent in its midst, and promises to give Woodstock genuine claim to a place among the list of music centers in the country.

The choir will give the cantata, Lorely, by Mendelssohn, probably the first rendition of this work for many years in Ulster county.

C. H. Johnson has expressed himself as very much pleased with the progress already made by the choral society and feels that it will be worth while for music lovers of Ulster county to watch the progress of the new Woodstock choir, and for those who have a desire to see a serious and permanent organization for the encouragement and development of choral singing, to lend their assistance in every possible way.

The full program for the May concert will appear later. The plans also include other choral concerts to be given throughout the summer season at Woodstock.

A certain clergyman had occasion to preach to the inmates of an insane hospital. During his sermon he noticed that one of the patients paid the closest attention, his eyes riveted upon the preacher's face his body bent eagerly forward.

Such interest was most flattering. After the service, the speaker noticed that the man spoke to the superintendent, so as soon as possible the preacher inquired:

"Didn't that man speak to you about my sermon?"

"Yes."

"Would you mind telling me what he said?"

The superintendent tried to sidestep, but the preacher insisted.

"Well," he said at last, "What the man said was, 'Just think he's out and I'm in.'"

"The Canadian" New N.Y.C. Train

The New York Central Railroad management has announced its plan to establish a new train to meet the requirements of the New York-Hamilton-Toronto travel, effective May 15. "Leftovers in Living"

That We All Collect

Among what a contributor to the Atlantic Monthly calls "Leftovers in Living," is "the collection of articles, or parts of articles, which gave the word 'miscellaneous' its name."

"You will find this collection," he writes, "in a drawer somewhere in the house. It has been years in the collecting. No human being has ever found a use for more than half of 1 per cent of the things in it. He never will. They are things too valuable to throw away—and of no use whatever to retain."

"Bits of old wire, a flatiron handle with a piece gone from one corner; a part of an imposing galleight fixture; a once gorgeous pipe case which held a quaintly designed carved pipe, now broken; one end of a curtain rod; two padlocks, the keys of which are missing; a bit of what is supposed to be part of the good ship Cristobal Colon which came to an untimely end in the Spanish-American war; a souvenir showing how much art a peasant could put on a bit of birch bark and dating back to the World's fair at Chicago; a china mug on which in old English is the sentimental phrase, 'To a Friend'; an eraser got up to resemble a bullet.

"To go on enumerating the articles in this collection would be a cataloguer's job. It is a staggering lot. Why such things are saved, nobody knows."

Relics Dug Up Prove

China Had a Stone Age

Discoveries made in China by J. G. Anderson, a Swedish scientist, establish, in his belief, that China had a Stone age. At Fengtien the expedition headed by Professor Anderson excavated a cave about 8 by 18 feet. In it were found bones from about 40 human bodies and a large number of objects, none of which was of metal.

The objects included arrowheads, stone axes, bone awls, curious stone rings and a tiny piece of animal sculpture made of marble, fragments of remarkable vessels, some with pressed geometrical patterns and others with a polished red surface ornamented boldly in black. Professor Anderson dates the cave to the transition between the Stone age and the Bronze age, or about 2000-1500 B. C.

Large collections of remains also were found at Yang Shao, including specimens of red and black ceramic objects similar to those found at Fengtien. Heretofore lending experts on Chinese history have held that there was no evidence of a Stone age in China.

Dog's Value in Alaska

In Alaska, where the trackless wilderness and the gigantic snow fields are the general order for the greater part of the year, the principal means of conveyance is the snow sled which is drawn by the malemute, or the husky, as the Alaskan dog is commonly called, says the Detroit News.

Strong and apparently oblivious to the raging of the elements, these brave and hardy dogs are the pride of the Alaskans, who without them would be in even worse straits than we would be without railroads or automobiles. No matter how cold, these dogs are always ready and willing to obey their masters, and even after hundreds of miles of snow-covered waste have been traveled they are ever ready to be up and going at the beck of their two-legged companion, who is usually their friend as well as master.

New Blasting Record

What is believed to have been the biggest blast ever set off in the history of industry was recently fired near Ogden, Utah, to provide material for constructing the fills that are the approaches to the Great Salt Lake trestle of the Southern Pacific railroad. Earth and rock to an estimated volume of 500,000 cubic yards was raised and shattered by the explosion, which used 301,200 pounds of special-process powder, equivalent to 800,000 pounds of black powder. A hill 275 feet high and covering a face of approximately 1,000 feet in length was lifted up and separated into fragments. The placing of the explosives in tunnels, aggregating 4,100 feet in length, occupied 25 men for 45 days.

Economy does not mean saving or hoarding. It means spending—but spending wisely and well—it means "frugality in expenditures"—buying with judgment and discrimination—purchasing such necessities as will yield the best returns, thereby eliminating waste. Buying "cheap" meats because of their low cost is not true economy. It is true economy to buy meats at this market because our high standard quality never varies and our prices are the lowest at which genuine prime steaks, roasts and chops can be sold.

It Can't Be Done

One of the puzzles of modern times is why the world has made such great progress in the physical and technical realm and so little in industrial relations. The reason is that we have been trying to solve a human problem by physical and technical means. It can't be done.

When We Deteriorate

A man begins to deteriorate, to go toward failure, not when he loses all of his material possessions, not when he fails in his undertakings, but when he loses faith in himself, in his ability to make his dreams come true.

Ulster Prepares To Mobilize

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dublin, May 2.—Ulster is preparing for the mobilization of 25,000 constabulary (military police), according to a report received here today.

Although no order has yet gone out from Belfast for mobilization, it is said that the government is recruiting ex-soldiers for military service.

The Irish war clouds arose from the boundary dispute between the Free State and Ulster province. Dublin claims that the frontier should be rectified. Ulster refuses, claiming that the Free State wants to detach three of Ulster's counties.

New Dance Club Will Have an Ebony Floor

In a big dance club which is projected the dance floor is to be of ebony—the first of its kind. It will be amazingly decorative, but its qualities for dancing have yet to be tested.

The perfect dance floor is a problem. Engineers and timber experts have produced some curiously complex and original structures for ballrooms in Britain and the United States, according to the London Mail.

The nearest approach to the ideal is laid in a London hotel. It is made up of nearly 10,000 small pieces of Balkan oak, seasoned for ten years, and given resiliency, toughness and imperviousness to atmospheric changes by a lengthy baking process.

Smoothness of surface was attained by pressing with electric irons, and the necessary spring is imparted by a suspension system involving the use of thousands of steel springs and wires. Although strong enough to bear 250 tons, its resiliency is retained, and regular "tuning" keeps it sensitive.

Floors laid on rubber and felt are comparatively common; but they have many disadvantages. Thin floors laid on a yielding foundation are very pleasant to the dancers while they are new, but they soon become worn in patches and may even become splintery.

Parquet floors, highly polished and laid on a solid foundation, are very tiring after an hour's dancing, although they are not so hard on the feet and leg muscles as the marble floors on which one dances in some fashionable places along the Riviera coast.

Slang of Shakespeare Is Much Used Today

More slang from Shakespeare is being used the Toronto Globe asserts. The old complaint against the bard of Avon that his plays were "too full of quotations" will have to be amended to read "too full of slang," if our readers' investigations continue. Henry T. Walker of Toronto sends a formidable list which recalls many expressions used by those said to be of short vocabulary. Hereafter they will cite Shakespeare as their authority. Here is the list:

"Will I live? (to Bardolph). Go with her, with her; hook on, hook on."—King Henry IV, part 2, act 2, scene 1.

"But let me tell the world."—King Henry IV, part 1, act 5, scene 2.

"Give the devil his due."—King Henry IV, part 1, act 1, scene 2.

"Our cake's dough on both sides."—"The Taming of the Shrew," Act 1, scene 1.

"It is not square to take."—"Timon of Athens," act 5, scene 5.

"I cannot tell what the dickens his name is."—"Merry Wives of Windsor," act 3, scene 2.

"As a cat laps milk."—"The Tempest," act 2, scene 1.

"Trinculo is feeling ripe; how can't thou in this pickle?"—"The Tempest," act 5, scene 1.

New Discovery in Iron Making

An instance of a case where a little is bad but an excess of the same bad quality makes it a good one, is reported by the United States bureau of standards as a result of recent researches in the reasons for malleable cast iron becoming brittle after being heated. When galvanized, such metal is heated to a critical range of 500 to 900 degrees Fahrenheit and then quite quickly cooled. This makes it brittle. It has now been found that if the metal is heated to a temperature 200 degrees above the critical range and then cooled, it is not only much more resistant to subsequent shocks, but also made immune to embrittlement as a result of subsequent reheating to within the dangerous range.

Not to Be Caught Twice

The clergyman, absorbed in thinking out a sermon, rounded a turn in the path and bumped into a cow. He swept off his hat with a flourish, exclaiming: "I beg your pardon, madam."

Then he observed his error and was annoyed. Soon, however, again engaged with thoughts of the sermon, he collided with a woman at another bend of the path.

"Get out of the way, you brute!" he said.

Education Invaluable

Laws for the liberal education of youth are so extremely wise and useful that, to a humane and generous mind, no expense for this purpose would be thought extravagant.

Do you realize that in far off Japan and nearby Mexico, in sunny Spain, in the snow covered Alps, on the rocky slopes of northern Chile, and on the sunlit plains of North Carolina there are folks troubled with indigestion, dizzy spells and gas on the stomach? Thousands have been relieved through the use of ROYAL DIGESTO. On sale at Ten Brook's Drug Store, Kingston Central Pharmacy, Connolly Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Other Premiers Meet MacDonald

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 2.—Premier Thompson, of Belgium, and Foreign Minister Hymans conferred at Chequers Court today with Premier Ramsey MacDonald, outlining Franco-Belgian plans for giving up economic control of Germany gradually as Germany enacts the provisions of the Dawes reparation plan.

The two Belgian statesmen had arrived from Paris last night after a series of conferences with Premier Poincare, Marshal Poch and French reparation experts.

It is understood they communicated to Premier MacDonald some of the fears of Premier Poincare regarding lack of guarantees. It is reported they said that Premier Poincare is willing to accept the Dawes plan in its original form if assurances are forthcoming that the British support in France in renewing economic control of Germany if the Germans default.

There is a growing feeling in England that the inter-allied reparations commission should not be allowed to interfere with the working of the Dawes plan.

Birds That Steal

A number of birds have the habit of stealing for the pure pleasure of stealing. Cases of golf balls being carried off by crows and gulls are by no means uncommon. The magpie's record as a thief has been known from time immemorial and has been celebrated both in song and story. The magpie, like the Australian bower bird, seems to possess an esthetic sense which is gratified by the acquisition of brightly colored or glittering objects.

Number of Bees in Swarms

The estimates of the number of bees in a swarm range all the way from 10,000 to 100,000. However, it is admitted that a swarm of bees containing 75,000 or 100,000 is an exceedingly large colony. The normal colony contains between 15,000 and 30,000 workers, although swarms contain 40,000 or 50,000 are not uncommon. Carefully attended apiaries. Drones may number from a few dozen to several hundred.

EXPLORERS TO CHART
ARCTIC WILDERNESSGeological Survey Men to Fill in Blank Spot on Map.

Nenana, Alaska.—Through the bitter weather of late winter in the Arctic circle and the peril of an unsettled, unknown region, a party of the United States geological survey, headed by Dr. Phillip S. Smith, is bound for the remote Colville river basin.

This probably is the most hazardous mission ever undertaken by this branch of the government service. The purpose is to fill in a big blank spot on the map of Alaska containing 25,000 square miles of unexplored wilderness, and also to determine by mineralogical tests the scope of an oil-bearing structure known to exist between Point Barrow, on the Arctic coast, and the Colville basin.

Territory Uninhabited.

According to Gerald FitzGerald, topographical engineer with the party, the barren stretch is uninhabited except along the Arctic shores, where isolated bands of Eskimos eke out a living by beachcombing. The country is devoid of timber, but overlain by tundra moss, save where streams cut the structure and reveal coal beds and oil seepages.

FitzGerald has penetrated far enough in the direction to learn that game apparently is negligible, except for ptarmigan and an occasional colony of beaver and muskrat. Without timber, the party will be compelled to rely on exposed coal for fuel and, lacking that, on the meager supply of gasoline and alcohol they can transport.

Seek Oil Deposits.

Before leaving here, Doctor Smith said he expected to come out of the wilderness by way of the Colville river to the Arctic ocean. He explained that the party would have to depend on being picked up by a stray whaling vessel and conveyed to the regular lines of steamer travel at Nome. If no whaler appears, the explorers will cast their lot with the Eskimos until relief is sent.

The region to be explored is believed to contain vast deposits of oil. A lake filled with bitumen has been discovered near Point Barrow, and the survey party will try to determine the origin of this oil and its commercial importance.

Take Dog Teams and Canoes.

The expedition was organized with the care of a polar journey. No surplus was carried, either in men or materials. Doctor Smith contracted with a company to transport his supplies to the headwaters of the Alutna in the Alaskan Rockies. At this point the party is to plunge into the wilderness. Besides the dozen dog teams, knock-down canoes were taken to be assembled and used when the streams are free from ice. Doctor Smith hoped to reach the headwaters of the Colville about May 1, so that the principal explorations could be made in the brief Arctic summer.

The geologists and topographers in the party include Dr. J. B. Mertie, R. K. Lynt and Harry A. Tait. Four aids complete the personnel.

Wild Geese 67 Years Old
Are Still Thriving on Farm

New York.—Wild geese are sometimes said to be centenarians, but there has been difficulty in proving the statement. Some evidence has been presented, however, by Henry Stark, who writes:

"In 1855 an uncle of Henry Stark captured two Canada geese in a net spread along the beach of the Chickamauga islands, in Chesapeake bay. Since that time this pair of geese have been paddling around farms owned by members of the Stark family."

"A few years ago the uncle died at the ripe old age of eighty-one, but the two Canada geese are still thriving and alert and seemingly in the prime of their youth."

"No one knows how old these geese were when captured, but Mr. Stark says he has evidence that they are 67 now and he hopes they will prove the statement that wild geese live to be 100."

Quake Refugees Flocking
Back to Yokohama Again

Yokohama, Japan.—Although tens of thousands of citizens driven from this city by the great quake of last year are struggling back and trying to re-establish their homes, the population of Yokohama is still 150,000 less than it was on the morning of the fateful first of September, according to police statistics.

Yokohama's population now is 291,250; on September 1 it was approximately 440,000.

Deer Attacks Man

Waynesboro, Pa.—C. C. Walters, a farmer, was confined to his home at Roadside, near here, as the result of being attacked by a buck deer at his home. Walters was in his yard when he saw several dogs chasing a deer. He shot at the dogs to frighten them away, when the deer turned and struck him with its front feet and inflicted a number of lacerations on his face. The deer then ran toward the mountains, where it was found dead from exhaustion.

WILL CHART STORMS
FROM U. S. BALLOONWeather Man Plans Flight to Study Winds.

Washington.—The first of fifteen flights in a free balloon which will ride the storms in an effort to learn more about them, will be begun by Dr. LeRoy Meisinger of the central office of the United States weather bureau. The flights are part of the most ambitious plans for scientific exploration of the atmosphere ever to be undertaken and they will be carried on through the co-operation of the weather bureau and the United States air service. All will start from Scott Field, Illinois, not far from St. Louis. They will be made in a hydrogen-filled balloon, furnished and piloted by the weather bureau with a full set of meteorological instruments. The balloon will be a large one, about 40 feet in diameter and holding 35,000 cubic feet of gas.

The main purpose of the flights is to study the motions of large masses of air with reference to the ground, when they are influenced by the great whirls in the atmosphere, hundreds of miles in diameter, which the meteorologists call cyclonic storms and which in their passage across the country give us most of the many varieties of our weather. The motion of the air with reference to the centers of these storms is fairly well known, but these centers are always themselves in motion and just what happens to the air in them or above them is not understood.

Doctor Meisinger proposes to find out, by going up in a balloon in the storm to a height of 10,000 feet, and then sticking by it as long as it is possible to do so, mapping out his location from time to time, and at the end charting the whole voyage, which will give the track not only of the balloon, but also of the air in which it rode. He proposes to take some trips in front of storms, some near their centers, others trailing behind them, to study the behavior of the air in each case.

New Hotel Will Inclose
Existing Baptist Church

New York.—A 15-story hotel and church will soon be built around and over the old Calvary Baptist church on West Fifty-seventh street, while the congregation will continue to sit in their accustomed seats Sunday after Sunday. The contractors have announced that the wings which form the main part of the hotel and the roof can be brought into being without interfering with the use of the auditorium.

The magnificent auditorium of the present church will remain as it has been since the church was built over seventy years ago, but the present gallery will be enlarged and a second one constructed so that the seating capacity of the new church will be 4,000. Wings on either side of the present church and 12 stories immediately above it will be built and leased for operation as a hotel for Christian people.

Cost of the improvements will be about $2,000,000, but it is expected that the hotel will turn in enough rental to the church to enable it to considerably widen its scope of activities.

A radio broadcasting station will be one of the features of the new building.

It's Good Joss for Junk to Cross Steamer's Bow

Seattle, Wash.—"It's a good joss for a Chinese junk to cross the bows of a big overseas steamship, but it unnerves shipmasters, who have to use utmost care to avoid collisions," declared Capt. John Griffith of the President Jackson, here from the Orient.

"Each junk has two light blue eyes, one painted on each side of the bow. Upon approach these figures give the craft with black tall sails and elevated sterns a dragonlike aspect. The Chinese mariners believe the eyes are necessary, and no junk will venture offshore without them. Mariners of the China coast assert that if a big liner just misses them or strikes them a glancing blow, the 'good joss' is perched on the bows of their vessel for months."

Dogs in Tug of War

Wallingford, Conn.—Two toy dogs, holding a tug of war over a piece of meat, held up traffic on the busy Hartford road here, ignored efforts of police to get them out of the way and simply didn't hear the din of scores of horns. Two motorists picked the animals up and placed them on a sidewalk, where they were still tugging when the last blockaded machine went by.

Crops Raised in 1923

Worth Twelve Billion
Washington.—Crops raised and live stock produced on American farms last year were worth $12,204,000,000, the Department of Agriculture reported. This was $860,000,000 more than in 1922. The total includes $9,053,000,000 for crops and $3,151,000,000 for animal products, less $8,800,000,000, the value of crops fed to live stock.

The wheat crop was worth $726,000,000, as compared with $874,000,000 in 1922 and $2,050,000,000 in 1919.

Honesty

As soon as man's eyes are opened to the fact that honesty in thinking and acting pays the highest rewards to heart and soul and body, that honesty is the tap-root of all efficiency, and that no efficiency is possible without a fearless desire for an honest measure of values in all things, we shall start on a new era in our land.

Meet Him Half Way

There are two sides to every quarrel, and every quarrel can be settled by thinking of the other man's side. Put yourself in his position, and you'll begin to find some things wrong with yours. The best meeting place is half way.—Channing Pollock.

Sincerity

Remember this little rule for men: Let your every act start from sincere interest in the thing to be done, never from the mere desire to impress others with your personality. Since motives are the firm foundations upon which actual accomplishments are built, concealed motives are the shifty sands upon which failure is built.—Lowell Tillmore.

Take Nap Before Dinner If You Want Good Health

Before and after eating promotes good health, according to a statement by Dr. Ernest Dewees, assistant medical director of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, who has just completed a study of the relation of sleep to good health in general.

"Food should never be taken when one is very tired," Dr. Dewees stated. "It is not necessary that a person should go fast asleep before his evening meal after a day's work, but he should at least rest. The food will then be far more good. The same rule regarding fatigue applies to other emotions."

"The commonly held belief that it is harmful to sleep after eating is erroneous. After a meal a person is naturally drowsy because circulation is directed more to the stomach and intestinal tract. Mental or physical activity immediately following a lunch or dinner tends to draw the blood away from the stomach where it is most needed and as a result retards digestion."

"There is no harm," the report continued, "in going to bed after a meal. The harmful effects of following irregular eating late at night before going to bed are often due to the fact that the food taken is in excess of the body's needs."

Sleep Before Eating Aids Digestion
overcome by the resistance of the body.

The Provident medical official takes no stock in the theory that sleep is only a matter of evolution; that man will some day be able to do without it entirely and that human intelligence varies inversely with the amount of sleep needed. "The amount of sleep required varies according to the individual," he said.

"There is practically no difference in the value of sleep secured before or after mid-night. This is almost entirely a matter of habit, and of surroundings conducive to sound sleep. It is true, however, that a person sleeps sounder during the first three or four hours when he is very tired and as fatigue wears off his sleep becomes lighter."

Eating and Colds

In his discussion of the relation of eating to colds Dr. Dewees said that it was easier to take cold after excessive eating or loss of sleep, both because accumulation of food and fatigue products lowers the body's resistance to infection and "cold" results. "Under these unfavorable conditions the germs of colds succeed in their invasion which ordinarily would be repelled."

LAST OF BAD MEN OF THE WEST SLAIN IN PISTOL BATTLE

Ed Lockhart, Ruthless Bandit of the Osage Hills, Killed by Captive.

Sperry, Okla.—Ed Lockhart, train robber and ruthless bandit of the Osage hills, went to his death defiant of the law to the end.

Surrounded by Sheriff Bob Sanford and six deputies in the farm house of Fred Walker, six miles west of here, the outlaw had his choice between peaceful surrender, which meant a "stretch" in prison or an attempt to escape and if this failed—death.

He chose the latter.

A few moments after the farm house had been surrounded Mont Grady of Muskogee, a deputy, knocked on the front door. It swung open and Lockhart "covered" Grady and forced him inside. Jack Quest, another deputy, entered from the rear and he, too, was held prisoner.

Killed by Captive.

Then the Osage bandit made his break for liberty. Using the two deputies as shields against the rifle fire of Sheriff Sanford and his posse, Lockhart fled to the timberlands.

Here the three were encircled by the officers and the firing began. Suddenly Grady, whose revolver had been taken by Lockhart, made a grab for the outlaw's belt and, without pulling the gun from its holster, fired.

"Man, you've killed me!" Lockhart cried out, and fell forward on his face. Thus marked the passing of the last of "the big three"—Henry Starr, Al Spencer and Ed Lockhart—who added a spectacular tinge to early Oklahoma banditry.

Starr was shot down by citizens in Harrison, Ark., in February, 1921, after an unsuccessful attempt at bank robbery. Spencer was killed by a posse headed by Alva McDonald, United States marshal for western Oklahoma, in a raid late last year.

Had Starr as Tutor.

Spencer embarked on a life of crime through the theft of horses after suddenly tiring of menial labors on his farm. He was convicted, but managed to escape from jail.

When the Wild West was at its wildest Starr was jailed. On his promise to reform he was paroled. But crime beckoned to him again and in his next "job" he died—with his boots on, as he had desired it.

Spencer, who had become Starr's right-hand man, then took up the leadership of the gang. The frontier trembled at the mention of Spencer's name. After a short period of mourning for the dead chieftain, the "Starr gang" began its plundering again.

Banks were robbed, pay rolls stolen, daring holdups staged, but with the occasional loss of a man or two Spencer's bandits ruled the Osage territory, apparently living under a "lucky star."

Spencer's Luck Fails.

Then came the Katy mail train hold-up in the wilds of the Osage hills last November. Suspicion was immediately fastened upon Spencer and one of the greatest manhunts in the Southwest got under way. It ended when Spencer was trapped by Marshal McDonald and a posse, on a lonely road near Bartlesville, Okla., and in the ensuing gun battle died as did Starr—with his boots on.

Lockhart, who had been with the Starr raiding party when that leader was killed, then picked up the reins of lawlessness and directed the few remaining bandit followers.

Last of the Bad Men.

Lockhart was paroled from the state penitentiary, where he was sentenced for robbing a bank in Corvallis, Okla., in 1922, by Gov. "Jack" Walton. He was supposed to be gone for only a few days on a pretext of visiting his wife, who was ill. He never returned to the prison and later turned up in Jay, Okla., where he was jailed.

A daring "capture" of the prison by a seventeen-year-old member of his band freed Lockhart. Governor Trapp, who succeeded Walton as governor after the latter had been impeached, revoked the parole and search was instituted again for Lockhart.

The dead outlaw was the last of the "bad men of the West." Many of the old "Starr-Spencer" followers reformed. Many were killed.

Rope Snaps as Man Tries to Hang Self

Hagerstown, Md.—Jerry Lapole, forty-eight years old, who the police say tried to hang himself in the cellar of his home here recently, was unsuccessful because the rope broke.

His wife summoned Sheriff Duffey, who took him to jail, Maryland having a law rarely enforced imposing penalties upon persons attempting to end their lives.

CRACKSMEN UNABLE TO OPEN OLD SAFE

Dilapidated Strongbox Resists Efforts of Thieves.

Farmingdale, L. I.—For many years a dilapidated old safe, made of steel, four feet high and three feet wide, has been in the Farmingdale station of the Long Island railroad. It has been there so long that even the oldest resident cannot remember when it was not there. Yet, despite its age, it stanchly withstood the assaults made on it by burglars with drills and other tools of their profession. There was $200 in the safe and some railroad tickets.

When J. S. Newell, the station agent, came on duty and went to get the change money and tickets from the safe he found that six large holes had been drilled in it, and the combination had been almost wrenched out of place. But the money was there. A safe expert had to be called in to get the money out for the day's business. Detectives are looking for the cracksmen who punctured the safe but failed to get the money.

Worker Dragged to Death by Flywheel of Buzz-Saw

Washington.—Dragged into the flywheel of a small electric motor, A. Clifton Pool, forty-two years old, was almost instantly killed when part of his head was torn off by the machine. Pool was employed as a carpenter by Herman Shapiro, who is constructing a row of houses at Crittenden street and Sherman circle, Northwest. The motor, a small device, barely knee high, is used to run a buzz-saw, and Pool was employed cutting some blocks on the saw.

The carpenter's clothing became entangled in the flywheel and before he could even utter a cry, he had been dragged to the ground and his head fastened between the spinning wheel and the body of the motor. Virtually the entire right side of his head and face were ripped away.

Farmer Crushed to Death When Tractor Turns Over

Baxley, Ga.—Frank Harley, a prominent farmer of Appling county, met instant death here while operating a tractor in a field on his farm a short distance from Baxley.

Mr. Harley was driving his tractor attached to a furrow machine when he attempted to increase the speed. The tractor rose in the air on the back wheels and fell back on its driver, burying him in the dirt. Death was almost instantaneous, it is said, though the body was pinned beneath the machine for an hour before assistance arrived. The spokes in the steering wheel were broken and Mr. Harley's chest was crushed.

People of Russia Get First Coins Since War

Moscow.—Russians recently clinked hard money in their pockets for the first time since the war, with the issuance of the new soviet silver coinage.

A small amount in fractional ruble coins was put out by the State bank, and within a few hours nearly every shop had some of them.

Simultaneously the government fixed the prices of nearly all staple commodities, and in order to maintain the parity of silver and the new small gold-value paper ordered all banks to accept these new issues at par.

Two Wives Shared One Husband for 11 Years

The first Mrs. Depietro sued the second, who is her sister, following a quarrel over the children of the family. The husband and his second wife are in jail.

Biggest Blast Shakes Down Mountain To Make Railroad Ballast Material

THE world's largest blast for commercial purposes was recently set off at Lakeside, near Ogden, Utah, where the Southern Pacific Company demolished a small mountain to obtain material to raise the fills that are approaches to the Great Salt Lake trestles. The mountain was 275 feet high with a face of approximately 1,000 feet in length. When the explosives were detonated, the mountain was lifted up, shattered into millions of fragments and spread over an area of 360,000 square feet. The blast was unusual in many respects and attracted great numbers of spectators to the scene. Millions of pounds of black powder and dynamite are used annually in the country for mining and quarrying, for road building, harbor deepening and other purposes; in fact, manufacturing and other activities could not go on as at present without them. The great blast at Lakeside needed, however, quantities of explosives such as are rarely brought together for use in the open air.

TUNNEL NO. 1 AND FACE LOOKING SOUTHEAST BEFORE THE BLAST

Work for the shot began months in advance and consisted in constructing six tunnels varying in depth from 175 feet to 180 feet and having crosscuts at the ends and centers varying in length from 30 feet to 90 feet. The tunnels means of a direct current electrical aggregated 4100 feet in length, circuit supplied by a special dynamo. They were loaded with $91,200 mo car.

The cost of the blast including low grade high explosive which may be said to rank between blast-castful use of the explosives some 550,000 cubic yards of rock were torn from the mountain, which, it is stated, will be adequate to take care of the company's needs at that point for work planned this season.

Why Girls

Are not prettier—why women grow old

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I was a plain girl, but I made myself a famous beauty. I have reached a grandmother's age, but I keep my youthful looks. Countless young girls envy my hair and my complexion.

No ordinary beauty helps ever did, or ever will, bring such results to women. I searched the world for the best help in existence. I spent a fortune to obtain them. To them I owe all that beauty and perennial youth have meant in my career.

Now I have placed these identical helps at your call. To girls they mean multiplied beauty, to women continued youth. I urge you to let them bring to you what they brought to me.

The great mistakes

Millions of women seeking beauty and youth use unscientific helps. Now I bring you the best helps in existence.

Clay is a beauty essential. No girl can look her best without it, no woman keep her youth. But not the crude and muddy clays so many still employ. A super-clay has been perfected by 20 years of scientific study. It is white, refined and dainty. It is ten times more effective than the ordinary clays.

I call this my White Youth Clay. Many women, with one use, seem to drop ten years. It brings a rosy, clear complexion. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles. My White Youth Clay will amaze and delight you. I urge you to see what it does. The cost is 50 cents and $1.

Scientific creams. Women use creams which no great expert in the world could sanction. I made a world-wide search to get the best creams in existence.

One is my Youth Cream—a cold cream. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to soften, feed and foster the skin texture.

I use it after the clay. Also as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. I want you to learn what Youth Cream means to you. It costs only 60 cents.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I found in France. Great beauty experts the world over now employ it. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. But it cleans to the depths, and removes from the skin all the dirt and refuse which nothing else can reach.

You will know for the first time what a clean skin means when you apply my Facial Youth. The cost is 75 cents.

Hair you marvel at

Millions marvel at my luxuriant hair. It is thick and lustrous, finer than in years ago. Falling hair, dandruff and gray hair have never come to me.

This is also due to France. She perfected my Hair Youth. I apply it daily with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. It does not wash the hair. It cleans the scalp, stimulates and fertilizes. Then the hair roots flourish and bring the results I show.

If you wish like hair, use this method, the best that science knows. My Hair Youth costs 50 cents and $1 with eye dropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply these preparations. Nothing else in all the world can bring you like results. Go try them. Let them bring you what they brought to me. Edna Wallace Hopper, 526 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

Beat Yankees and Giants Is Slogan

Beat New York is the slogan of the seven other clubs in the two major leagues. Every hand in baseball outside the greater city is directed against the Giants and the Yankees.

For three years New York fans have had the world's series all to themselves; for three years the other seven clubs in each league have chased but chased in vain. No team has ever won four pennants in a row, so that outside of this city most everybody is rooting against the champions not only of the National league but the American league.

Pitchers Manning and Cowan have been turned over to Joplin of the Western association by Little Rock.

Hank O'Day says if he can get by three more years as umpire he will be ready to retire from active service.

The sensational work of Shortstop Dudley Lee of the Boston Red Sox has been most pleasing to Manager Fohl.

Larry Gardner's best playing days have long passed, but Larry continues to be one of the best pinch hitters in the game.

The New Orleans club has released Specs Reagan, pitcher, to Waco of the Texas association. He was with Waco last year.

Manager McGraw of the Giants says Frankie Frisch is going to be more valuable than ever this year. He has learned to slide feet first.

Chet Thomas, former catcher of the Cleveland Americans, has been signed by the St. Louis American league club as a coach for the pitchers.

A race between Archdeacon of the White Sox and Frankie Frisch of the New York Giants, to determine the fastest runner in the majors, would be well worth seeing.

George Steinland, sent to Seattle by the Cubs in the Jacobs deal, looks so good to Manager Wade Kilgore of the Indians that the latter predicts he will win 25 games.

Fred Mollwitz, first baseman of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast Baseball league, has quit the team because a raise in salary with a two-year contract was not granted him.

Bob Caffrey, former Duquesne university athlete, who had a trial with the Pirates last spring, but was compelled to leave camp because of illness, has signed with the Bridgeport Eastern league team.

Missing Girl's Body Found

By Telegram to The Freeman. Binghamton, N. Y., May 2.—Demands for an investigation were heard today following the discovery of the body of Eleanor Aylesworth, missing high school girl, in a mud bank on the edge of the Susquehanna river, ten miles below this city.

The body had lain there for at least a month, farmers said, but they did not investigate, because, they thought it was a "brown bag."

John Fisch, of Endicott, crossing the fields where the body lay, was moved by curiosity to investigate. His gruesome discovery unnerved him. He rushed to the village of Endicott with his news and citizens brought the body to the village.

Eleanor disappeared on the morning of February 26 after inquiring for a letter at the office of her guardian, Harry Harkness, secretary of the Binghamton Automobile Club.

A nation-wide search was begun and twenty state troopers were ordered to the scene by Governor Smith. Boy scouts and city police aided the police. Sole clues were a girl's footprints leading to the river, bloodstains on the bridge and a girl's handkerchief, also found on the bridge.

Society Notes

D. A. R. Hear Reports.

There was a large attendance at the May meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., held at the chapter house on Thursday afternoon. Two new members were taken into the chapter, Mrs. Emma Hardenburgh LeFevre of Ellenville and Mrs. Barbara Moehring, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, delegate to the recent continental congress held in Washington, gave a comprehensive and exceedingly interesting and informing account of the conference in general and Miss Edith Holmes, chairman of the Americanization committee of the local chapter, told entertainingly of the national D. A. R. naturalization work. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Zabriskie and Mrs. Childster.

Wright-Schaffer. Miss Louise Schaffer, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Schaffer, and Arthur Wright, son of Mrs. Belle Wright, both of Ellenville, were united in marriage at the Ellenville Lutheran church at noon Wednesday. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. G. J. M. Ketcher. They were accompanied by Miss Mathilda Enkler as bridesmaid and Theodore Schaffer as best man. A reception followed at the home of the bride following which Mr. and Mrs. Wright took the afternoon train for a wedding trip to New York city. On their return they will make their home in their newly erected and furnished cottage at Green Acres, Ellenville. Both are well known and popular Ellenville young people, the bride having been for some time past engaged in the office at the Ulster Knife Works and Mr. Wright being connected with the Ellenville post office.

Politeness

Helen was at her first party. When the refreshments were served, says Everybody's, she refused a second helping of 'ice cream with a polite "No, thank you," though she looked wistful. "Do have some more, dear," the hostess urged. "Mother told me to say, 'No, thank you,'" the little girl explained naively, "but I don't believe she knew how small the dishes were going to be."

Commendable Study

"What are you studying now?" asked Mrs. Johnson. "We have taken up the subject of molecules," answered the son. "I hope you will be very attentive and practice constantly," said the mother. "I tried to get your father to wear one, but he could not keep it in his eye."

Inquisitive

"Rastus" began Sambo as the two were swapping war incidents, "was you ever sick when you was in France?" "Oh, man!" responded Rastus, "I had the flu so bad that Ah used to look in the casualty list for mah own name."

MERCHANT TIRES OF BEING ROBBED. KILLS HOLDUP MAN

York Shopkeeper Kills Fourth Robber Who At- tempts to Loot Till.

York.—Three times thieves had broken and robbed Louis Bernet, owner of a cigar store at 139 Willis avenue, the Bronx. It was enough. Recently he bought a second-hand revolver. He cleaned and oiled it.

One day at grave danger to himself, he took it from a desk and with it and one of two armed thugs who invaded his little shop.

Bernet's store is under the Willis avenue bridge in a spot dark and lonely at night. At nine o'clock Bernet was chatting with Walter Rowe, seven years of No. 423 East 138th street, a customer. A moment later the two men walked up, each with a pistol drawn.

Bernet thrust his weapon against the first man's breast and stood guard over the other. The other, seeing Bernet with his pistol, ordered the proprietor to walk toward the rear of the store.

Turns on Bandit.

This was a fatal mistake. Out came Bernet, although a large man, impotent in the rear was an and desk and in the desk was a revolver he had bought for just an occasion.

Come on, turn over what you've got, the thief ordered.

Bernet stepped toward the desk and reached into a pigeonhole as if to pull money. The robber's vigilance refor a second as the old man whirled about, revolver in hand, from a distance of less than six feet, fired four shots, each making effect.

The thug's arm shot forward, but the .45 caliber automatic, clattered to the floor.

Dying Bandit Warns Pal.

"I got mine!" he cried in warning to his companion. He staggered and the door and collapsed. The man fled, giving Bernet no time for a shot at him.

Parolman Weller of Alexander Avenue station rushed into the store at the sound of the shots. He called an ambulance from Lincoln hospital, but Bernet's victim was dead before the surgeon arrived.

Although the routine investigation started by officials and detectives, there was no move to molest Bernet, who is a Spanish war veteran. Deputy Commissioner Faurot congratulated the Assistant District Attorney who called it "a good job half done." The dead man could not be identified. He was evidently a foreigner, about thirty-five, five feet-three inches tall, weighing 185 pounds.

"Bad Man" Tamer for Years, Never Had to Kill

Monteagle, Okla.—For 36 of his 56 years Samuel Jackson has been a police officer. He has served in several sections of the West when it was wild, but one of his proudest boasts is that he has never killed a man. Jackson started as a deputy in Texas, and after 15 years went to the Oklahoma territory as a member of the Indian police service. "Once an officer always an officer. It gets in your blood," he said.

Tried to Burn a Fortune

Ouder Rapids, Ia.—Piling $2,075 in paper money in a heap on the street, Frank Barnish of this city touched a match to the pile. He was arrested and charged with being intoxicated. Most of the money was saved from burning.

Flapper Thugs Were Boys

New York.—Two "girls with bobbed hair" arrested at New York City as "flapper" bandits, sprang a great surprise on the police. The two bandits were boys—Clarence Wilson and Fred Marshall.

RICHARDS RECONSIDERS HIS RESIGNATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 2.—Opinion in official tennis circles today was to the effect that Vincent Richards's reconsideration of his resignation from the Davis Cup team might prove an effective check upon the movement to have the player-writer rule rescinded. It was pointed out that Richards not only stated that those in control of the Tennis Association are sincere in their wish to help the game but added that he considered that they were supported by the sentiment of the majority, as evidenced by the vote in favor of the player-writer rule at the last general meeting.

It was understood today, however, that Richards's action will have no effect on the special meeting of the West Side Tennis Club, called for Monday night to demand a reconsideration of the rule.

Habits of the Gorilla

The gorilla, chimpanzee and orang-outang are alike in being destitute of any rudiment of a tail, in having no cheek-pouches and no naked spaces at the base of the trunk, and in the habit of resting on the knuckles of the hand in walking. Late investigation shows that the gorilla spends more of his time in the trees than on the ground. He makes a rude shelter for his mate and young and himself sleeps with his back to the tree trunk ready for any emergency.

Poughkeepsie Vs. K. H. S. Tomorrow

Two ancient rivals will meet Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds at 2:30 o'clock to fight one of their many battles. The ancient rivals are Kingston High School and Poughkeepsie High School.

The Kingston High School people are still smarting over the defeat in football at the hands of Poughkeepsie, and are out to get retribution by giving them a sound trimming. Poughkeepsie is equally determined to take home a win in their suit cases and satchels.

Coach Perry did some hard work Thursday night with the players, talking over the game and giving them a general drubbing. Tonight he will give them a light workout and will get everything in readiness for the game.

All of the men will be able to play and are in good physical condition.

Following is the probable lineup of the locals: Whiston, Capt., c.; Vogt, 1b.; Hauser, 2b.; Hoffman, ss.; Messinger, 3b.; Melane, cf.; Howard, lf.; Schmidt or Ummerle, rf. Lawrence will probably get the pitching assignment.

Prizes Burrowing Rodents
There are 2,000,000 mammals in California. Half of these are burrowing rodents, such as ground squirrels, kangaroo rats and gophers, which give farmers much trouble, says the Atlanta Constitution.

Dr. Joseph Grinnell of the University of California, however, has a good word to say for gophers and such. Fossils show that they have been in existence at least 200,000 years and he has figured out on one tract of land that in that time gophers have given the soil the equivalent to 3,400 plowings to a depth of six inches. It is all right to keep them off artificially cultivated land.

New Ruins Found in France
Workmen engaged in clearing grounds around the ancient gymnasium near Orange, France, recently uncovered ruins of a temple of greater dimensions than the famous Maison-Garret at Nîmes or the Temple of Augustus and Livia at Vienna. The archeological department of France considers the discovery of great importance, and has ordered excavation to be continued.

Arts and Arteries
She had a vast amount of money but it had come to her quite recently. One day an acquaintance asked her if she was fond of art. "Fond of art?" she exclaimed. "Well, I should say I was. If I am ever in a city where there's an artery, I never fail to visit it."—The Christian Evangelist.

Wills to Meet Jack Dempsey

At Boyle's Thirty Acres Sept. 6—Firpo Out of the Summer's Activities, Says Rickard.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, May 2.—Tex Rickard, who stunned the pugilistic world late yesterday by announcing that Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills would meet in Jersey City, September 6, with the world's heavyweight title at stake, will draw up articles of agreement today for the big extravaganza. Wills is said to have accepted Rickard's terms two days ago and is ready to say it on the dotted line. A duplicate contract will be mailed to Dempsey in Los Angeles, and the interval before its arrival there will be utilized by Rickard in an exchange of long distance telephone calls with Jack Kearns, Dempsey's man of business.

According to a statement made by Rickard today, the champion virtually agreed to his terms the last time he was in New York and little remains beyond the formal signing of the articles. He will, however, keep in constant touch with Kearns in order to clear up any difficulties that might arise.

No announcement has been made as to the purse guaranteed Wills but the amount is understood to fall short of $200,000, some capital having been made of the fact that Wills is to get his fling at the title finally after years of weary waiting.

Dempsey will work on a percentage basis, beyond a doubt. Jack took a guarantee of $200,000 for the Carpenter fight and lost plenty, the "house" totalling well over $1,600,000. At that, Dempsey cannot hope to drag in that much money at Jersey City again, even with Wills as the attraction. Fifty dollars was the top price for Carpenter, but twenty-five is the limit in Jersey now.

Rickard's announcement was a tacit admission that two definite steps before the Dempsey business, the first being Bartley Madden on May 9, the second being the placing of political influence which has long been opposed to Wills meeting Dempsey or any white man for the heavyweight title. The second was the virtual elimination of Louie Firpo as a title contender for the present season at least, Dempsey having proclaimed that he would fight but once this summer.

"Firpo is impossible," Rickard said today. "I have become convinced that he does not want to fight again and have instructed my Argentine agent, Juan Homs, to break off all negotiations with the Latin. There is nothing further I can do with Firpo and have given him up as a bad job. Why should I bother now? I think I have lined up a far better attraction in Wills."

Rickard has some big work before him in reconstructing the arena at Boyle's Thirty Acres in order to insure safety for the great crowd that is certain to attend the affair. The arena will seat upward of 90,000 and it is estimated that the receipts will total not less than $1,250,000. Of this amount, Dempsey probably will be reimbursed to the amount of a cool half million at the very least.

In confirming Rickard's announcement, Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, said today that he planned to bring the negro to the peak of his condition by easy stages. He will be sent out against several opponents before the Dempsey business, the first being Bartley Madden on May 9, the second being the placing of political influ-

Jack Renault may also be accommodated this summer, Mullins added. Wills plan to begin intensive training about six weeks before the battle. He will pitch his camp somewhere on Long Island, some distance from the big town. Dempsey will be tied up with his motion picture contract until July. He is then expected to come east and begin training either at Atlantic City, where he trained for Carpenter, or at Saratoga Springs, where he prepared for Firpo.

VICTORY JUNIORS LOST TO BROWNIES 19 TO 12.
Thursday afternoon at the corn field, the Victory Juniors went down to defeat before the Brownies A. C., by the score of 19 to 12. The game was exciting and well played. Mullins started in the box for the Victory Juniors, and after pitching for two innings was replaced by Affron. Basch was on the receiving end for the losers. The lineup for the Brownies was: H. Streifer, p.; Berg, ss; Rockefeller, 1b; Lawrence, 2b; L. Carpino, 3b; A. Streifer, c; Metcalf, lf; Kreppel, cf; Jacobs, rf, and Ellis, rf.

The feature hits of the game were a home run by Lawrence and a three-bagger by H. Streifer. The series of five games between these two teams is now even, each team having won one game. The score by innings: Brownies A. C. 6 5 0 0 5 0 3—19 Victory Jrs. . . 0 3 1 0 3 2—12
